

Rapid Fire Presentation Information

Please plan your rapid-fire presentation for 5 minutes. This is a very compressed summary of the key aspects of the abstract. There will be a hard stop at five minutes if you have not concluded your presentation. There will not be time for questions or discussion during the rapid fire session. Instead, delegates will be asked to hold their questions over for the poster viewing session which will immediately follow the rapid fire session. In addition to this rapid-fire presentation, you are required to do a poster presentation as well. Posters should be formatted vertically (portrait orientation), of standard A0 (120 cm x 84 cm) size. During the conference, poster presenters are responsible for attaching their poster to their assigned poster panel. Pins and tacks will be provided. Poster panels will be arranged numerically.

All presentations should be brought to the Speaker Room and uploaded into the central system no later than 13:30 on the day of your presentation.

Suggested Presentation Template:

Note that this is for guidance only. You can take a different approach as long as you have no more than 5 slides; no more than 5 points per slide and take no more than 5 minutes. Note that the goal is not to capture the detailed technical aspects of your work; rather it is to provide a context (slides 1+2); an overview with results (slides 3+4) and the conclusions (slide 5) of your research.

Slide 0: This should have (i) title of your abstract; (ii) your name; (iii) affiliation - note that slide 0 does not count as a presentation slide.

Slide 1: This should provide a technical background to your research; why is this interesting/important research topic?

Slide 2: What is the hypothesis behind this work? What are the objectives that underpin the hypothesis?

Slide 3: Outline the methods or study plan

Slide 4: Results

Slide 5: Conclusions

Slide X: Acknowledgement
